THE CHRISTMAS STOCKING

By Ellen Baumwoll

Wendy's grandmother knitted her a Christmas stocking. "Keep it safe," her grandmother whispered. Happy and excited, Wendy put it in her wagon and went for a walk. It was a cold and windy winter day. As the wind blew against the wagon, the stocking fell out and was swept down a steep hill. Some animals found it.

"A Christmas stocking," they called. "Yes," a squirrel replied. He had seen everything. "It belongs to a poor little girl who has just lost it." "Look," a hedgehog pointed. "There is some writing on it?" "What does it say?" asked the animals. "To Wendy with love, Grandma." "What should we do?" asked the animals. "I know," said the squirrel. "We can fill it with gifts and put it in a place where she will find it."

The squirrel scurried to the stocking and put some chestnuts into it.

The hedgehog hurried to the stocking and put some berries into it.

The dairy cow danced to the stocking and put some milk into it.

The pony pranced to the stocking and put some hay into it.

The jaybird jumped to the stocking and put some seeds into it.

The bunny bumped to the stocking and put some grain into it.

The snow goose scuttled to the stocking and put some down into it.

The sheep shuttled to the stocking and put some wool into it.

Now, the stocking was full. The squirrel tied it closed and hung it on the branch of a tree.

When Wendy returned the next day, she found the filled stocking hanging from a tree. "My stocking!" she cried with joy. "I wonder what happened to it?" She never found out.

She carried the stocking home and hung it over the mantle. It was Christmas Eve.

On Christmas day, everyone was excited to see what was in the stocking. "Open it, Wendy," said mother. Wendy opened the stocking and out fell all the gifts. "What wonderful gifts!" cried mother. We can roast the chestnuts and eat them, bake a berry pie, drink the milk, feed the hay to our animals, plant the seeds for next year's crops, grind the grain into flour to make bread, make a down quilt, and spin the wool into a warm blanket. What a wonderful Christmas!"

END.

Postscript. THE REAL ST. NICHOLAS.

The real St. Nicholas (later called Santa Claus) was born in the Middle East about 350 miles northwest of Bethlehem in the fourth century on Dec. 6, either 280, 345, or 352 A.D. He lost his parents when he was very young and later dedicated his life to religion. He moved to Myra (now Kale), his home town, Lycia, near the coast of what is now Turkey. He was appointed the bishop of Myra. Legend tells us of his love for children, his kindness, and the good deeds he brought about. He used his inherited wealth to help the poor. Nicholas was a shy man and did not like to give money directly, so he gave it anonymously. One famous story is of a nobleman in Myra, a good man who fell on hard times. He was unable to supply his daughters with a dowry. As the first two daughters approached marriageable age, Nicholas visited their house at night, tossing a bag of gold through the window. The nobleman was determined to discover who was doing these acts of kindness and stayed up one night. He saw Nicholas dropping the third bag of gold. It has been said that Nicholas climbed on the roof and dropped the third bag of gold down the chimney into a stocking hanging up to dry. Nicholas begged him to keep the secret, but the news got out. This has given rise to the modern custom of placing gifts in and hanging up stockings on Christmas Eve. From then on, whenever anyone received an unexpected gift, they thanked Nicholas.
